PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

DUKE UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL, Durham, N.C.
July 1994 - present
Senior Lecturing Fellow, 1994 - 2003
Clinical Professor of Law, 2003 - present
Director, Children's Law Clinic.

Teaching responsibilities have included the following:

Education Law: Course covers the law and policy relating to public education (K-12) in the United States. It examines the authority of the state to compel school attendance, regulate the content of the curriculum and control the behavior of students and their teachers. It also covers school desegregation, school financing, and special education for the handicapped. Annually, each fall semester, 2002 - present.

Children's Law Clinic: Clinical course in which students, under close faculty supervision, represent children and their parents in education-related cases, primarily school discipline and special education. Students are trained in the relevant law as well as in interviewing, client counseling, negotiation and administrative hearing representation. Annually, both semesters, 2002 - present.

Readings in Social Justice: the Case of Flint, Michigan: Co-taught with clinical faculty, this one-credit course used the lead contamination of the city water in

Flint as a case study to allow students to explore the social and racial justice implications of the governmental decisions leading to the crisis, and to analyze the potential solutions to the problems created. Fall 2016

Readings in Social Justice: Mass Incarceration: Co-taught with clinical faculty, this one-credit course examined the phenomenon in the U.S. of incarcerating a vastly higher percent of its population than other nations, particularly people of color. Spring 2018

Duke-Geneva Institute in Transnational Law: An Introduction to the American Legal System. Summer 2013

AIDS Legal Assistance Project: Clinical course in which students represent persons with HIV/AIDS under clinical faculty supervision. Students are trained in estate planning, guardianship and Social Security disability law, as well as in clinical skills such as interviewing, client counseling, document drafting, and administrative trial skills. Annually, both semesters, 1996 - 2001.

Legal Analysis, Research and Writing: Course introduces first year law students to the various forms of legal writing and modes of legal research. Through an integrated approach to writing and research, the course begins by analyzing the components of judicial opinions and ends with the students independently researching and writing a sophisticated appellate brief. Students are provided significant individual feedback on written work throughout the course. Annually, both semesters, 1994 - 2001.

N.C. DIVISION OF AGING, Raleigh, N.C.
September 1994 - 2000

Consultant. Prepared extensive training curriculum for the Division's "Seniors Plus Program," an outreach project involving the participation of elderly persons in public government benefit programs. Trained more than 350 volunteers throughout North Carolina in multiple intensive, two-day sessions to counsel the elderly on topics covered.

EAST CENTRAL COMMUNITY LEGAL SERVICES, Raleigh, N.C.
November 1984 - July 1994

Senior Attorney. Advised and represented low-income clients in all phases of poverty law, with emphases in government benefit programs, education law, and employment law. Other areas of expertise include health law, consumer protection, and landlord-tenant relations. Directly supervised and managed the legal work of three staff attorneys. Litigated at all levels of court, including the United States Supreme Court (Bowen v.

Jane R. Wettach
